“Preserving Our History
Through Education”

HOW TO BECOME A HESPERIA JUNIOR HISTORIAN

History is anything that has happened in the past. History in general is very important to explore and maintain. Researching and studying your local history brings to light how your area became what it is today. But being a Junior Historian is more than that.

In this activity, you will explore a variety of events that have happened, structure and areas that once existed, and some that still do but have a different use. Learn about these places and events, and complete fun educational activities.

Research and Study - Many things and/or events cannot be seen in the area today. Use a variety of sources to do your research. Knowledge may only build success, but making it your own will enhance the experience.

Protect and Preserve - Many historic sites and/or events are on commercial and/or private property. Be extra careful to protect and preserve these historic areas.

Courteous and Safe - As researchers, Junior Historians have an inherent obligation to be courteous and safe along their journey.

The Badge comes with completion of the activities.

After completing the activities, you can become a Junior Historian by taking the pledge with an educator or the Museum Curator. Thereafter, proudly wear your badge (located at the end of the book). For more information on our unique Junior Historian Program, visit our Hesperia Historic Preservation Group Facebook page, or the Hesperia Recreation and Park District website.

As a Junior Historian, I promise to:

Explore the Magnificent and beautiful area I live in.

Learn About

Our City/Town History

Protect Our

Public/Private lands and the things that make our history special.

I promise to enjoy our public lands and share what I learn with my family and friends

ONLINE RESEARCH

4. There were 2 songs written about Hesperia in the 1950s. One of which was “Headin’ for Hesperia” (1954) by F.X. McDonald. Listed below are some of the lyrics. Study them.

He was a huffin and puffin coming fast along the trail
 With a snortin’ sneeze, he cut the breeze, his shirt tail was a sail
 As he passed me I asked him why, he hollered, “I can’t hear ya”
 But there’s not a doubt, I heard him shout, “I’m Heading for Hesperia”

(Chorus) Hedin for Hesperia, I’am getting out of here
 I’m leavin’ my gout and headin for California’s new frontier
 Where there’s no smog, no smoke, no noise, and freedom from hysteria
 I’m tellin’ ya Mac, I’m ballin’ the jack. I’m headin’ for Hesperia

Out where common things are handy, sold in the general store
 Calico eggs and candy, the post office behind the door
 Out where the air is fresh and clean, there is no smog or smoke
 Out where you held in high esteem and the undertaker’s broke

If you’re hiring a psychiatrist who is treating your hysteria
 Jump off his couch and shout out loud , I’m “Headin for Hesperia”
 Then tell old Mac you won’t be back, now pack your sack and call a hack
 Get off the rack and make a track, and on the way be “ballin’ the Jack”

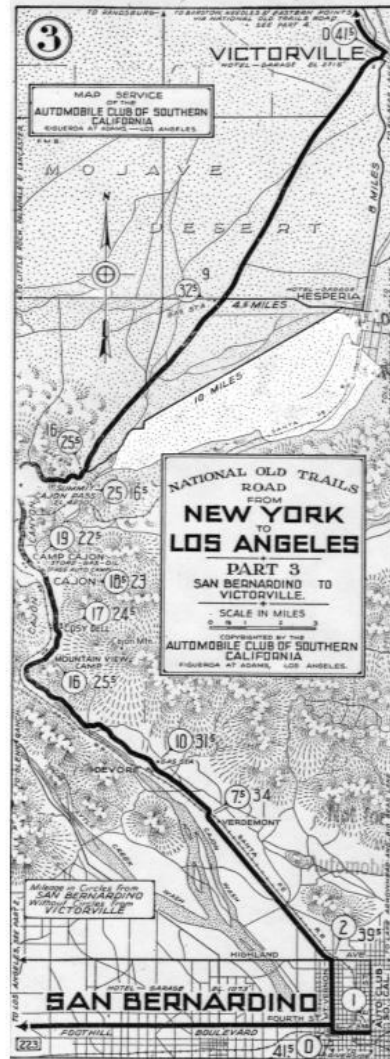

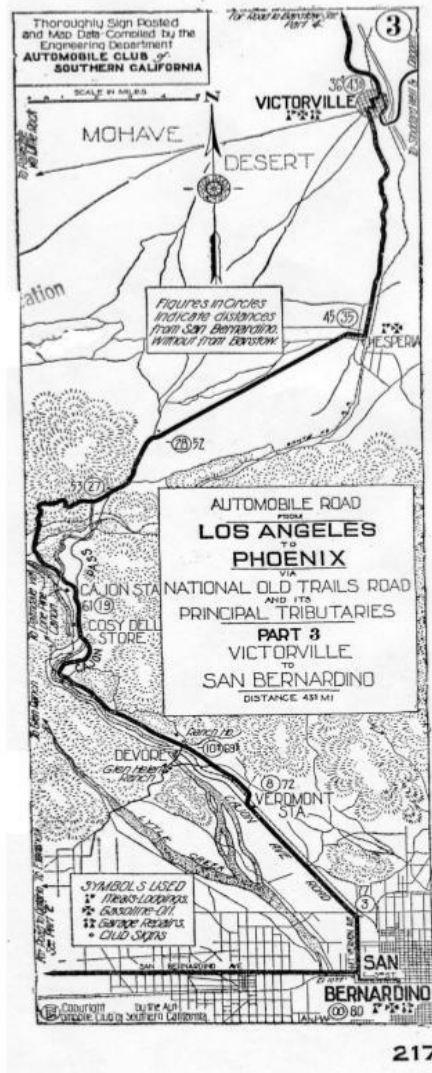

Now, describe what you think the specific lyrics below are referring to...

1. “With a snortin’ sneeze”
2. “I’m leavin’ my gout”
3. “Calico eggs and candy, the Post Office behind the door”
4. “Out where the air is fresh and clean. There is no smog or smoke”

5. “Out where you’re held in high esteem and the undertaker’s broke”
6. “If you’re hiring a psychiatrist who is treating your hysteria”
7. “On the way, be “ballin’ the Jack”
